

Pupil C began travel training having only made the occasional journey to the city centre via bus. He was very enthusiastic about the experience but needed some help in reading bus time tables. Together with a member of staff Pupil C followed a travel training plan that involved him using a bus timetable app on his mobile phone. This was a much clearer way of him knowing when buses would depart and arrive. His travel training experiences have improved his opportunities for social interaction with his friends whilst giving him more freedom to explore places such as sporting clubs and museums outside of school. In September he plans to make the journey to college via bus with his friends.
