

Pupil D enjoys spending time with his family outside of school but unfortunately his needs have limited the independent contact he has been able to have with young people of his own age. Participating in group travel training opportunities has given him new experiences within his local community, such as enjoying a drink at a café with friends, going shopping or using the sensory resources at the local library. He has learnt how to keep himself safe and he now feel more confident in asking for help if required.